Research Profile: Have contributed to extant literature on sustainable consumption and green purchase behaviour in the Indian context. By developing guiding frameworks and empirically examining environmental awareness and other social-psychographic factors, the research provides direction to policy, marketing strategy, and consumer education. My research also extends to emerging socio-economic themes such as the gig economy and COVID-19-induced behavioural changes, offering relevant insights for academia and practice. Have published research papers in reputed journals and have been a resource person in various fora.
