

Delhi University Literature Festival (DULF) 1.0

 12th – 14th February 2026

 Rugby Stadium, Multipurpose Hall & Shankarlal Auditorium, University of Delhi

The Delhi University Literature Festival (DULF) 1.0 will be held from 12th to 14th February 2026 at the Rugby Stadium, Multipurpose Hall, and Shankarlal Auditorium, University of Delhi.

DULF is not merely a festival of books and writers; it is a celebration of dialogue, ideas, cultures, and the many voices that shape our campus each day. It brings together stories, perspectives, and conversations that unite the community as one. Through engaging author interactions, insightful panel discussions, and enriching artistic performances, DULF promises three vibrant days where literature meets curiosity, debate, and thoughtful exchange. The festival embodies the spirit of Nation First: Unity in Diversity—a principle that the University of Delhi lives and nurtures every day.

This festival is rooted in the cultural conscience of Bharat, and your presence will truly complete it. Whether you come to listen, to question, to reflect, or simply to immerse yourself in the atmosphere, you are integral to what gives DULF its meaning. Bring your friends, your notebooks, and your curiosity—and above all, bring yourself.

We look forward to welcoming you at DULF 2026 and celebrating the spirit of literature together — the DU way.
